Hi Lynn and Kirk--

Jane, Jim and I visited the chimney in Cedar Mountain yesterday. I wish all of our sites were that easy to get to! We photographed the chimney and looked around the area. We're not experts at dating, but what we could see from the remains of the structure led us to believe that it probably was not much more than 100 years old. We didn't see anything that would lead us to recommend that the chimney be preserved or the materials salvaged.

I checked the deeds to see who sold the property to Thad Bingham. I traced the property back to 1959, when the heirs of GG Baldwin. sold the parcel to Carl and Ina Teague.

Thank you for the opportunity to document the chimney. Our only request regarding the site is that the the location of the chimney be shown on the plat.
